

ABSTRACT

A method and composition for stabilizing fragrance or flavor compositions against color-degradation based upon the use of an effective amount of a natural antioxidant that is substantially inert with respect to the fragrance compound, flavor compound or mixture thereof.